

Germans Retreating in Picardy While Americans Push Huns Back on Aisne

FRENCH ENCIRCLING CHAUNEY BY AN OUTFLANKING MOVEMENT

General Mangin's Men Still Further Lessen Value of Chemin des Dames Position Which Enemy is Trying to Hold And American Divisions Are Bording on South Bank of Aisne.

GERMANS FIRE TOWNS AND MUNITIONS

(By United Press)

Paris, Sept. 6—3:50 p. m.—The right of General Humbert's army operating against St. Quentin, Ham and LaFere has nearly reached Chaune, which is being encircled by an outflanking movement against St. Simon.

Gen. Mangin's men today still further lessened the value of the Chemin des Dames position that the Germans are trying to hold.

American divisions are bordering on the south bank of the Aisne.

With the British Army in France, Sept. 6.—Clouds of smoke and fires from burning villages caused by exploding munition dumps all through Picardy between the canal DuNord and the Hindenburg line, today indicated the Germans were again moving backward.

A marked decrease in enemy shelling made it apparent that the Germans realize it is necessary to retreat. Possibly they are already withdrawing behind the Hindenburg line.

With the Americans on the Aisne, Sept. 6.—More than half a dozen villages between the Vesle and the Aisne are now in American hands. Our troops are still following up the German withdrawal.

The main American line today was approaching the canal beyond Longueval and Revillon, and hence moving in a northeasterly direction.

Germans are reported holding portions on the canal in considerable rear guard strength and sharp fighting is in progress at these places where the enemy is expected to make a desperate effort to slow up the allied pursuit.

Continued progress of the French army north of Soissons and penetration of Coucy forest is likely to have a marked effect on German plans to make a permanent stand north of the Aisne.

The Americans who have not yet reached the river continue to meet opposition only from machine guns.

Pershing Reports an Advance
Washington, Sept. 6.—Advance of American troops to the crest of the slope Leavy to the Aisne, was reported by Pershing today.

Ham is Encircled
Paris, Sept. 6.—Encircled from the northwest, southwest and south, the important junction point of Ham is virtually taken, according to dispatches from the front.

The French and Americans have reached the Aisne river on a front of 10 miles. A continuous advance on the whole front between the Somme and the Vesle was announced by the war office.

Americans have taken Diennes and are approaching the Aisne at two places northeast of Fismes. LaFere, the German supply base north of Soissons, is reported encircled.

IS IMPLICATED IN PLANTING THE BOMB

John W. Wilson, I. W. W. Leader, Positively Identified as Having Part in Chicago Outrage

HAYWOOD'S SISTER IS HELD

Chicago, Sept. 6.—In a statement today, Michael F. Sullivan, assistant state's attorney, declared that John W. Wilson, arrested last night, had been positively identified as having been implicated in planting the bomb in the Chicago federal building.

Wilson, a leader of the I. W. W., and Mrs. Minnie Wymann, sister of William B. Haywood, convicted secretary-treasurer of the I. W. W., were taken into custody early today in a raid made on a west side house in connection with the bomb explosion in the Federal building Wednesday, resulting in the death of four persons and the injury of more than thirty others.

From measures taken to guard Wilson and Mrs. Wymann, it was believed their detention was regarded as of more than ordinary importance. It was reported at detective headquarters that information had been obtained that would lead to important arrests.

ORDER NUMBERS ARE ESTABLISHED

Registrants of August 24 Will be Called Along With Those of June 5, 1918

OLD MASTER LIST IS USED

Distinguishing Letter After Each Number Determines Order if Two Numbers Are Same

The order numbers of the twenty-six young men registering August 24, have been established by the county army selection board, fixing the order of their call to the army.

Their order numbers are such that they will be called along with the registrants of June 5, 1918. They are treated just as late registrants would be. The order numbers were established with the use of the original master list of numbers drawn after the first registration June 5, 1917.

All numbers in the master list above 122 were scratched out in establishing the order number of the registrants of June 5, 1918, because there were 122 registered. To get the order numbers of the latest group of registrants, numbers on the master list from 122 to 138 were used. The registration numbers of the last group of registrants, which were established at the state adjutant general's office, were received here yesterday, which enabled the board to fix the order numbers.

On account of registrants of August 24 being treated as late registrants of the class of June 5, 1918, their order numbers must of necessity be followed by some distinguishing mark or they would be the same as order numbers of the June 5 class. Thus a distinguishing mark as "A," "B," or "C," as the case may be, is used. "A" following a number means that registrant will be called immediately after the registrants of the June 5 class with the same order number.

The order numbers were established as follows:

4 A
George Meul, Manilla, R. R. 1.
4 B
Ota Hockersmith, Rushville, W. 9th.
7 A
Samuel Scott, Rushville, N. Jackson
9 A

MAY USE AUTO TO ATTEND CHURCHES

If They Have No Other Means Of Travel, Country People May Ride In Machines

AN UNOFFICIAL STATEMENT

County Fuel Administrator Reflects Sentiment of Department Heads Of State Body

In the absence of any official orders from the state fuel administration Samuel L. Trabue county controller, announced today that he is in favor of the use of automobiles for church-going purposes among country people, when no other method is available.

In view of the numerous expressions of the county's executive concerning the necessity of prayer and church service, especially under present conditions, Administrator Trabue stated today that he believes a curtailing of church-going would be disastrous to the morale of any community and if the use of automobiles are necessary for a continuance of good attendance at the services, the fuel orders will not be disobeyed when machines are used for this purpose.

State fuel officials have issued no definite ruling concerning the use of automobiles for Sunday church-going but opinions which have been given out by departmental heads indicate that the use of machines for this purpose, among people of rural districts, is allowable, and people using them thus will not be regarded as unpatriotic.

"I am of the opinion that patriotic citizens will not take advantage of this construction of the fuel request," said Administrator Trabue, in referring to the measure, "and the use of machines for other than patriotic purposes will be abolished throughout Rush county."

"I believe that church-going in these troublesome times, is a patriotic necessity," he continued, "and that it should be encouraged rather than discouraged." This version of the conservation request, however, does not mean that people residing in rural districts who have other modes of travel, should use their automobiles for in the construction of the measure, Mr. Trabue emphatically states that the automobiles should be used only by those who are without any other possible means of travel.

SENTENCES OF 5 ARE SUSPENDED

Four Young Men Arrested July 15 For Stealing Charles Casey's Automobile Plead Guilty.

CHAS. OFFUTT ADMITS GUILT

Boy Accused Of Stealing Auto Casing Freed Pending Good Behavior—Two Others Give Bond.

Five young men, all under age except one, have been sentenced to prison and their sentence suspended, when they pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the circuit court, since late yesterday afternoon.

Four of them were charged in the same affidavit with the theft of an automobile belonging to Charles Casey, living northeast of the city, from a point near the First Baptist church Sunday evening, July 14, last. They were arrested on the evening of the day following in Louisville by Deputy Sheriff Spivey and returned here.

The arrest of Stanley Stewart and Happy Bever was also disclosed when these two men were arraigned in circuit court on charges of profanity preferred by Ed Hardwick of New Salem. They each pleaded not guilty, and gave bond for $50. Stewart and Bever are accused of having violated the law as charged in the affidavit, on the streets of New Salem August 28.

Charles Offutt, who was arraigned before Judge Sparks this morning, was one of the five boys accused of grand larceny. He was arrested July 28, charged with the theft of an automobile casing belonging to Clark and Cadwell from the C. I. & W. station here. The affidavit states the casing was valued at $56. Offutt has been in jail because he was unable to provide $500 bond. He pleaded guilty and was fined one dollar and costs and sentenced to serve from one to fourteen years in the state reformatory. The sentence was suspended by the court however, because the interest of society does not demand that the defendant suffer the penalty imposed by the sentence, in the opinion of Judge Sparks. Offutt gave his age as seventeen years.

The four young men charged with stealing the Casey automobile—Frank and Clarence Talbert of Morristown, Charles Malott of Connersville and Carl Rhoades of Knightstown—have been in jail since they were brought back here from Louisville. Being unable to supply bond, they have been in jail since that time. Their sentences, which were also suspended pending their good behavior, were one to fourteen years in the state reformatory. They were also fined one dollar and costs each and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of profit or trust for one year. Frank Talbert gave his age as twenty-three years; Clarence Talbert, eighteen; Charles Malott, nineteen; Carl Rhoades, sixteen.

"By reason of the character of said defendants," says the court's order in their cases, "and the circumstances surrounding the commission of said crime, the interest of society does not demand that the defendants suffer the penalty imposed by the law if they shall hereafter be found guilty."

17-YEAR LOCUST

EXPECTED IN 1919

Due to Spread Over Indiana Next Year Because It Last Appeared in 1902

WILL COME OUT LAST OF MAY

Eggs Are Laid on Vegetation, Hatch in Six Weeks and Young Locusts Burrow in Ground

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 6.—Next year is seventeen-year locust year in Indiana, according to James Troop, chief in entomology at Purdue university.

Careful records made by trained observers in all parts of the country during the past thirty years have proved that there are more than twenty well marked broods of this insect which make their appearance at different times and in different localities of the United States. There is seldom a year in which the seventeen-year locust may not be found in some part of the country.

The largest and most important of these broods covers practically all of Indiana and spreads over into neighboring states. This brood last appeared in 1902 and consequently it will be due for its next appearance in 1919.

The pupae or grub-like young are now sixteen years old and are already working their way toward the surface of the ground. Next year they will be ready to complete their change into winged insects and will come out of the ground the latter part of next May. The newly emerged locusts climb the nearest convenient object where they cling while the pupal skin splits open along the back and adult locust comes forth. The life of the mature insects lasts several weeks which the males occupy in "singing" while the voiceless females lay from 300 to 500 eggs in the young twigs of shrubs and trees. The eggs are laid in ragged cuts made in the twigs, causing many of the small branches to lie later in the season. The eggs hatch in about six weeks and the young locusts descend to the ground where they burrow beneath the surface to spend the succeeding years of their long underground life.

The principal injury to vegetation is caused by the females during the egg-laying period and is due to the wounds in the branches above referred to. Injuries to young fruit trees, while sometimes serious, are generally exaggerated. Observations made by the writer in 1885 and again in 1902 showed very clearly that where forest trees were near, the injury to young fruit trees was very slight. There are, however, apparently well authenticated instances on record where fruit trees suffered to a considerable extent. Oaks and hickories seemed to suffer more than other forest trees, while the apple is the favorite fruit tree. From the information developed from just observations orchardists need not hesitate to set out young trees either this fall or next spring. Such trees, however, should be thoroughly sprayed with the lime-sulphur mixture diluted to summer strength. This spray should be applied during May and June. Put on at this time the spray will act as a repellent and will tend to drive the locusts to the forest trees.

Paris, Aug. 18 (By Mail).—George Robertson of the Railway Engineers is wearing the Croix de Guerre for ingenuity in utilizing one of the most novel weapons of the war. During the recent German drive an American unit of engineers was hauling ammunition and supplies up to the French lines. Just as the Germans began to get too near for comfort, Robertson's huge American locomotive ran off the track. He had to leave it. But before evacuating he screwed down the safety valve and turned on the oil fuel supply into the firebox.

About 20 minutes later, while 60 Germans were standing around the engine, it happened. The boiler exploded with a tremendous roar. So far as the Germans were concerned it had the same effect as a half-dozen well-placed shells.

You Know the Story of the Early Bird

And Well May It Be Applied This Season to the Story of a Fall Suit

Many materials and colors—the pick of the looms—are not to be had any more. Mills which wove them were obliged to make other cloths before their orders were much more than half filled. Manufacturers of garments and retailers as well were forced to reduce their orders.

Of these splendid garments now coming in, it can be said that they cannot be duplicated. Just the color and just the cloth you have wished for may be here now, but we are buying but one of a kind, well, that is the application of the early bird story.

$4,000,000,000 TAX LEVY

On American People For Years After Peace Comes

(By United Press.)
Washington, Sept. 16.—America's annual tax bill after the war will be at least $4,000,000,000, Rep. Kitchen, chairman of the ways and means committee, predicted today in opening the debate on the war tax bill. A billion a year for pensions, a billion more for the army and navy and $1,250,000,000 interest on war bonds, will take up the bulk of four billion dollars for years after peace is declared, he stated.

FRENCH ENCIRCLING CHAUNY BY OUTFLANKING MOVEMENT

As they advance north of the Vesle, they found that already ravines have been filled with gas in an effort to slow up the pursuit. A heavy smoke screen was stretched along the Aisne front, concealing the enemy movement northward. Airplanes repeatedly attacked American infantry, sweeping roads, using machine guns and dropping bombs.

Strike at St. Quentin

London, Sept. 6.—Striking straight for St. Quentin, the British have crossed the Somme south of Peronne and have advanced four miles at some points, Haig reported. Athies, on the Amiens-St. Quentin road, has been reached. They have pressed eastward, advancing a mile and a half. Several towns along the Somme south of Peronne were taken.

Neuve-Chapelle, in Flanders, has been captured by the British, according to reports from the battlefront. This represents an advance of two miles. Dussy also was captured. French and British have crossed the DuNord canal along the entire front with the exception of two points.

Retreat is Disorderly

London, Sept. 6.—American and French troops pursuing the disorganized German retreat last night reached the south bank of the Aisne river between Conde and Vieil-Arey, a front of eight miles. Pressed constantly by the allied forces, the enemy retirement has become disorderly, and amounts almost to flight. Resistance between the Aisne and the Vesle, which has been cleared of Hunns, has broken down completely. In their progress toward the Aisne late yesterday, the Americans occupied the towns of Dhuizel and Barbonval virtually without opposition. Farther east General Pershing's troops have captured Glennes, two miles south of the river, and have reached the outskirts of Villers-en-Prayeres, on the Aisne. The French have effected further crossings of the Somme in the region of Epenancourt, between Peronne and Nesle. Farther south they have reached the Ham-Peronne road at several points. South of Ham the towns of Le Plessis-Patte d'Oie and Beriancourt were captured, and still farther south the French pursuit has pushed beyond Guerry, Caillouel, Crepin and Abbeccourt. In the region north of the Aisne,

PHYSICAL FIT MEN FORFEIT DESK JOBS

Only Specially Qualified Men or Those Unfit for Active Service to be Inducted

TO REPLACE ALL 21-31 MEN

(By United Press.)
Washington, Sept. 6.—War department orders today required that for desk jobs only technically qualified men or men unfit for active service or deferred for dependency, shall be inducted. Physically fit men, skilled in highly specialized occupations, may be taken for bureau service, when it is shown that limited service men cannot be obtained for the places. Orders were issued to replace all men of the 21-31 draft who would be classified in class I and are now assigned to office work, by deferred class men with dependents.

The French reached the outskirts of Smeeny and the plateau north of Landricourt. Below the Ailette they are advancing along the Vainvallon ravine. Paris officially reports the capture of thirty villages in the forward movement along the Ailette Thursday.

Unnecessary Travel

It has been suspected that the Director of Railroads wished to discourage unnecessary travel, but there were evidences of surprise when, in his recent remarks on the general railroad situation, Mr. McAdoo frankly declared that this was his object. In explaining his reason for imposing on Pullman car travel cumulative and in some cases almost prohibitive taxes, he said that in this way the Administration hopes to discourage to some extent the practice of riding de luxe. He said further that it was also hoped to "curtail passenger travel" in general in order to save fuel and locomotives for the hauling of freight. Mr. McAdoo "would like to induce those people who travel unnecessarily to stay at home and invest in Liberty bonds and War Saving stamps." In other words, the rates charged are not merely to produce needed revenue but are fixed with a view the more largely to reserve the railroads for their absolutely necessary work and for war purposes.

Of course it may be objected that this plan taxes the man who must travel for business as well as the man who wishes to travel merely for pleasure, but it is at once obvious that this is unavoidable. For the Government to undertake individual discrimination would not only add heavily to the already too great burden of its duties in war time but involve a searching and disagreeable inquiry into private affairs, which could not fail to be widely resented. If the conditions require that the railroads be largely reserved for war purposes and for business—and that such reservation is highly desirable we may readily understand—it must be acknowledged that the Director has chosen the only possible or the only tolerable means to that end.

What Do The Children Drink

A recent survey in a prosperous and progressive middle western city showed that among 422 children visited only 38 percent were receiving fresh milk to drink. Others were being given tea or coffee, and even some of the 38 per cent were drinking tea or coffee for breakfast. These children came from all sorts of families ranging from the wealthiest in the city to the very poorest.

When the warring nations of Europe, amid all their strain and cares, are making every effort to get to the children as much milk as can be produced or imported, it is a shameful fact to face that so many American children are doing without that vital food.

Many well-to-do families apparently believe they are supplying food of other kinds, expensive foods perhaps, which will take the place of milk. Poor people in their mistaken idea of thrift often start saving by cutting down their milk supply. And so it develops that children are not given as much milk as they need.

It cannot be too often repeated that the lasting results of this great war for democracy depend on what is fed to our children. As a result of the war, the world will be a different place.

ing generation is not safeguarded. The seriousness of saving people for the future is voiced in the nation wide baby campaign. Mothers are now beginning to realize that milk for the children is cheap at any price. Milk should be served to both old and young as a food, not as a beverage. Even if the increased cost of labor brings the price up, it is an indispensable and comparatively inexpensive article, when its real food value is appreciated.

Evading Registration

Attempts to evade registration on September 12 by men made subject to military service by the munition bill fixing the draft age limits at 18 and 45 will be hopeless, Provost Marshal General Crowder's office assert in summarizing the government's experience with the draft to date. Between 20,000 and 25,000 men who failed to register in 1917 have been rounded up since. Measures to catch delinquents have improved with experience.

Pointing out that the penalty of a year's imprisonment and forfeiture of exemption rights immediately devolves upon willful slackers, the statement said hardly a community in the United States had failed to show a swift visitation of the punishment where it was earned. While 3,000 men subject to the first draft had crossed to Mexico, their names are on file with the Department of Justice, with cases against them ready, and sooner or later they will face the bar. In the meantime even fugitives who possess means are being made miserable. Courts manifest no sympathy for evaders and women in all neighborhoods, especially those whose own relatives have been exceptionally active in turning over information to draft boards, police and federal officials that has been used in later prosecutions.

"Japan is now in a position to manufacture belting in quantities nearly sufficient to supply the local market of suitable quality and at prices too low to admit of much further foreign competition," writes Consul General Seidmore, Yokohama. Japan maintains a duty of $14.09 per 100 pounds on this article. See how she is building up her home market. Soon she will be manufacturing for export. It is but a small example for the Japanese-made belting turns the wheels of Japanese factories making goods for the American free market.

Average American wage earners are just now reaping a rich harvest. It remains for them to determine whether they will spend their earnings as they go or put a large portion away in the form of Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps so that in the future years they may have an income in the form of interest—an income in addition to that received for daily toil.

"Good king Arthur" was one of the original conservers, but in these days he would not be put to the necessity of "stealing three pecks of barley meal to make a bag pudding." He would only have to take barley meal as his flour substitute, and in a short time he would have enough accumulated for innumerable bag puddings.

Uncle Sam has built several thousand miles of railroads and miles of docks and wharves in France for the uses of his army. In one city he has established a bakery that turns out a million loaves of bread a day, in another the largest refrigerating plant in the world. There is nothing too good for Uncle Sam's boys.

War times are wonderful. They bring about changes that no one could have dreamed of. The world is a different place today than it was a few years ago. The war has brought about a new era of progress and development.

SLOW COUNTIES TO PRESS IN GERMANY BE THE EXCEPTION REFLECTS DEFEAT

Those Which Delay Reporting The Fourth Liberty Loan Quota Will Be Conspicuous

TO BE SUBSCRIBED PROMPTLY

Wayne County Arranges to Make Canvass Three Days Preceding Opening of Drive

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 6.—Counties which are slow in reporting the distribution of their allotment of the Fourth Liberty Loan will be more conspicuous in this drive than before. The county that delays more than a few days, or a week at most in "going over the top" will find itself more or less "friendless and alone," judging from reports that are coming into headquarters daily. Many of the counties have planned to devote only three days to the campaign, a few will distribute their quota in one day, and there are a very limited number that have not planned to make the canvass history, after the first week.

Wayne county has notified headquarters that September 25, 26, and 27—the three days preceding the opening of the books for the Fourth loan—will be sufficient for a complete canvass of the fifteen townships and the Loan committee is confident of securing more than enough subscriptions to make up the county's quota, notwithstanding the county probably may be asked to take nearly two million dollars worth of government securities. If the plan is successful Wayne county may have the distinction of being the first 100 per cent county to report its success.

The fact that there will be a complete co-ordination of the loan forces during the fourth drive is expected to prove an influence for prompt effective work. Heretofore there have been a more or less general disposition to scatter the effort. This time the loan organizations, which have been permanently established for the duration of the war, will be greatly intensified, by the elimination of the duplication of effort which often has prevailed before.

Business interests, particularly bankers and manufacturers, who realize the fiscal conditions, are agreed that the Indiana State Council of Defense was correct in its attitude favoring a quick, enthusiastic and patriotic response on the part of the people, as soon as the books are open for the drive. The disturbance to trade and economic conditions, the interference with effective war work, especially the manufacture of munitions, which is now regarded as of first importance by the government, will be prevented or minimized under the "quick campaign" plans of the Liberty Loan chairmen in practically every county of the sixty-eight which make up Indiana's part of the seventh federal reserve district.

There's a Gold Star in the Window

There's a gold star in the window
That a story tells to me—
Of a brave lad who has fallen
In the cause of liberty.
Silent, yet with force and power
It portrays both strong and true
One has made that sacrifice
Such as only patriots do.
There's a gold star in the window,
Made by mother's quaking hands.
She, her all, through him, has given
Meeting thus the stern demands.
Yet today, throughout the Nation
There are those that give no aid:
Not a Thrift stamp have they purchased
For no bond, e'en yet, have paid.
There's a gold star in the window,
May that gold star all inspire
To support and lend assistance
And of such to never tire.
May it rouse that latent feeling
"To my home I will be true"
May it stir to tireless action
Everyone to up and do.

Reveals That Empire is Alarmed by Strategy of Gen. Foch Disclosed by Allied Success

NEUTRALS ADD TO FEARS

Example is Taken From Swiss Paper Which Pays a Glowing Tribute to French Leader

Washington, Sept. 6.—Germany's growing realization of what the allied victories in France and Flanders mean continues to be reflected in the changed tones of the German press. An official dispatch quotes the following from the Cologne Gazette:

"The struggle going on on our southern front becomes every day greater and more formidable. The greatest German offensive cannot ever be compared to the present fight. We must not let the relative calm reigning in some sections deceive. Formidable forces are gathered there. Are there troops in need of rest, or are they designed for fresh fights, ready to attack on the first opportunity?"

This paper concedes that it does not understand Foch's strategy, and adds: "Our staff must make the necessary dispositions to meet any painful eventualities."

Other dispatches comment upon the evolution of the press in neutral countries since the allies took the offensive. As an example, the German Swiss paper, the New Zurich Gazette, is quoted as paying a fine tribute to Marshal Foch's military genius, saying he not only is a theorist of deep knowledge, but also "A leader wonderfully able to get his methods used on the battlefield."

From the Basle National Gazette this is taken:

"The German morale will be irremediably shaken by the allied victories. The belief in Hindenburg and Ludendorff animated the whole German policy; it was the secret of its power. They have been defeated. The Germans have for generations been brought up in the idea that they are the strongest and this belief formed the basis of their conception of the universe. If they suddenly find out that they have been mistaken, it is just as if the floor that supports them gave away."

USEFUL GIFTS FOR CHRISTMAS ALLOWED

National Defense Council and Merchants Ban Giving of Fancy Articles, However

TOYS PRACTICALLY ALL MADE

Washington, Sept. 6.—Raising the ban originally placed on Christmas buying, the Council of National Defense has entered into an agreement with representatives of leading industries and retail concerns and has come to the conclusion that the giving of useful gifts will be permitted. Fancy articles that used to find their way into the Christmas mails are to be barred.

The business interests concerned have agreed that the working force employed by them by reason of the holiday business will not be greater than the force employed normally. They also agreed to assist the council in restricting purchases to useful articles. Customers will be urged to carry home their own packages, and the business interests represented agree to announce the agreement entered into in their advertisements.

It was found that the manufacture of goods for the coming holiday season virtually had been completed; that the transportation of goods largely accomplished, and that much of the material used for Christmas purchases, especially toys, is the waste material derived from prior process of manufacture.

It is noted that the Kaiser has called an imperial council to consider plans for the future. One could hardly blame him for desiring to think about the present.

Miss Marie Davidson Elected Head of Y. P. C. U. of Indiana Presbytery For Year

ANNUAL CONVENTION ENDS

Rev. J. T. Aikin, General Secretary, Assists in Formation of War Work Organization

Miss Marie Davidson of Princeton, Ind., was elected president of the Young Peoples Christian Union of the Indiana Presbytery at the closing session of the convention at the First United Presbyterian church last night.

The convention was one of the largest as well as most interesting which has been held in a number of years. Miss Letha Green of this city was named first vice-president; Miss Gertrude McCorkle of Milroy, second vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth Cravan McElroy of Scotland, Ind., third vice-president, Miss Ruth Willeford of Springhill, fourth vice-president and Miss Catherine Carr of Indianapolis, treasurer.

The Rev. John T. Aikin, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of this city, who is general secretary of the Y. P. C. U. work in this presbytery, delivered an address during the closing business session and assisted in the formation of the organization's war work, which will be carried on during the year for the boys of the Y. P. C. U. who are in the service.

Miss Isabelle McElroy of Scotland, retiring president, was elected chairman of the committee to write letters to the military of the organization at stated intervals during the year. The committee will work out unique plans of letter writing in order that the usual hum-drum course which such letters assume, will be missing.

The evening session which opened at eight o'clock, was featured by a missionary program with addresses delivered by two returned missionaries from the east.

An interesting story of the people and customs of Jehlum, a district in Indiana, in which Miss Mary Logan of this county did missionary work for more than thirty years, was the subject of an interesting address, a note of color and realism being added by the citing of numerous individuals, whose lives were woven into interesting stories.

Reminiscences which dotted his career as a medical missionary in Assiut, Egypt where he had charge of a hospital for thirty years, were told by Dr. L. M. Henry of Greensburg, who is home on a year's furlough.

A prayer service for the boys represented in the organization service flag ended the convention.

RUSHVILLE TODAY IN SIGHT OF ITS QUOTA

Allotment of 200 Members On Franchise League Campaign Expected To Be Passed In City

OUT TOWNSHIPS DOING WELL

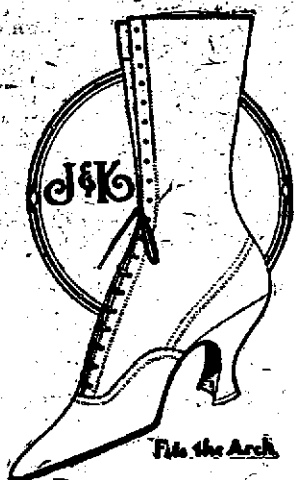

That Rushville township is within sight of its quota of 200 members for the Woman's Franchise League was indicated by leaders of the campaign today who stated that a large over-subscription to the drive would be reported when tomorrow evening's tabulation ends the campaign.

Miss Mary Sleeth, chairman of the drive in the city, announced today that the last tabulation of memberships showed an advance to within a half a hundred of the quota and with not half of the canvassers reported, a complete report would be sure to bring in at least three hundred Franchise members from within the city.

County reports which are also beginning to come in from the out townships, are most favorable and indicate a successful closing of the campaign tomorrow.

Watch Your Kidneys

Inhalation of the fumes of turpentine and white lead often weakens the kidneys. That's one reason why so many painters have bad backs and aching kidneys. Exposure and frequent colds and chills help start the trouble.

If your back aches, if sharp pains strike you in the back when stooping, if you are working, if you have headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, if the urine is discolored or passages painful and scanty, try Doan's Kidney Pills, the remedy so widely used and so well recommended by men in the painting trade. Here's Rushville testimony:

Charley Walker, 1023 N. Arthur St., says: "I work where a lot of turpentine is used and the fumes got my kidneys out of order. My back gave me the most trouble and was aching and lame and stiff. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and highly colored. I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at Pitman & Wilson's drug store. They surely helped me and gave me quick relief. I have a lot of faith in Doan's Kidney Pills and shall use them again if I need a kidney medicine."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Walker had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y. (Adv.)

Red Cross Will Provide Mourning
Bands Free For All The Mith-
ers and Widows

AT COST TO OTHER RELATIVES

The American Red Cross will provide mourning brassards to be worn by the relatives of men who are killed in France, the war-council of the organization has announced. The brassards, which are to be substituted for general mourning, were suggested and designed by the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense, the idea having been endorsed by President Wilson in a letter to the committee.

The brassards, which consist of a band of black broadcloth to be worn on the left sleeve, will be furnished free by local chapters to parents or widows of men killed in action and at cost prices to other relatives. On the surface of the black band is a gold star, and the number of stars will denote the extent of sacrifice made by each family. The first will be ready for distribution about the middle of September.

The official mourning bands will be made of black cloth and will be ready for distribution about the middle of September.

BRINGS OUT NOBLEST IN MEN
Drunken Aage Are Quieted With Strains of Mozart

By JOSEPH SHAPNEL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Sept. 5.—Revolutions are as capricious as a pretty woman. They can throw a people into ecstasies of joy and fits of despair. They bring out the noblest and basest in man. That is just exactly what the Russian revolution has done to the Russian people.

When one arrived in Petrograd last January he found mobs of civilians and soldiery smashing and robbing wine cellars and getting beastly drunk. The unkindest cut of all dealt by the revolution to the old court camarilla, I suppose, must have been the looting of the wonderful wine cellars of the winter palace. They were wild, dangerous mobs that worked in Petrograd in those December and January days. They showed particular preference for wine and champagne stored by the Romanoffs for the entertainment of the Rasputins. But that would not have been half so bad. The bolsheviks handled the mobs on this score quite easily, although in one case I remember, there were no less than 196 calls for help received at Smolny at one day, the day when the wine cellar smashing beat all records.

It was on that day, however, that the mob turned from the smashing of wine cellars to the smashing of the former Czarina's private chambers and the wonderful works of art in the palace. Here was a typical, wild mob of the French Revolution. It was disgusting, abhorrent, repulsive to see that mob at work.

About 6 months later—during the May First demonstration—I met the same mob in one of the magnificent ballrooms of the Winter Palace. There was something quite different on those faces. There was ecstasy and expectation. These people had been marching several hours, with red banners, singing songs of freedom, brotherhood and the Internationale. They were all half starved, but there was a marvelous, significant fire in those eyes. I marvelled. I was puzzled until from a neighboring room I suddenly heard the strains of wonderful music. It was the famous Petrograd conductor, Kouts, leading his orchestra. The smashers of wine cellars sat motionless, enchanted. I suddenly understood.

They were listening to the sweet strains of the Requiem of Mozart.
